Protecting Children (Information Sharing) Act

On September 15, 2017, The Protecting Children (Information Sharing) Act (PCISA) came into effect in Manitoba to create an environment where service providers are able to collaborate and better share critical information to protect the safety and well-being of children. This new provincial legislation allows service providers to collect, use and share personal information (including personal health information) about supported children, their parents and legal guardians with other service providers. Importantly, the PCISA does not supersede The Personal Health Information Act (PHIA), but rather works in conjunction with it. The roles and responsibilities of health information trustees under PHIA still apply. Comprehending the roles defined by the PCISA is key to understanding healthcare providers' obligations under this new legislation. Please see the Important Definitions chart below and/or review the Definitions page of the Manitoba Government website for clarification.

It is important to note that while many service providers under PCISA are also trustees under PHIA, not all service providers are trustees, and not all trustees are service providers.

While service providers can collect, use and share the personal information (including the personal health information) of supported children and their parents or legal guardians for the purpose of providing or planning the delivery of services and benefits to a supported child.

The PCISA only allows trustees that are not service providers to collect, use and share the personal information (including personal health information) of supported children for the same purpose.

A trustee that is not a service provider is not authorized to share the personal information (which includes the personal health information) of a parent or a legal guardian under the PCISA.

For more information on PCISA, please visit the Manitoba Government webpage. The College is gathering more information and clarification about how the PCISA is applied in various pharmacy practice settings and will keep members informed.

Expanded Scope of Practice

There has been an increase in the number of members forwarding their Statements of Participation to the College with request they be added to their professional development log. The College reminds all members that it is your responsibility to update your professional development log and you are only required to submit the statements when requested by the College for the Professional Development audit.

Statements for Self- Limiting Conditions from Advancing Practice are only submitted to the College when applying for authorization to prescribe a drug in Schedule 3. Statements for CPR and First Aid courses do not need to be submitted, but should be retained for your records.

You cannot prescribe for self-limiting conditions until you receive approval from the College.

Province Invites Feedback on Mental Health and Addictions Challenges in Manitoba

On September 18, 2017, Manitoba Health, Seniors and Active Living announced it is soliciting feedback on mental health, substance use and addictions challenges in the province. As pharmacists and pharmacy technicians, College members are in an ideal position to provide valuable information about their experience.

There are two online surveys. One survey is directed at the public, people with lived experience and families; the second survey is directed at service providers. Both surveys are anonymous.

The deadline to participate in the surveys is October 13, 2017.

For more information, please see the linked News Release.

Safety IQ Benefits Community Pharmacy Practice

On September 18, 2017, the College, in partnership with the Institute for Safe Medication Practices Canada (ISMP Canada), successfully launched the Safety IQ Pilot. Twenty-one volunteer pharmacies have stepped up to champion Safety IQ and many have already begun reporting medication incidents and near-misses to ISMP Canada for the purpose of shared learning and quality improvement.

The College recognizes that patient safety is everyone's responsibility! Any community pharmacy team or patient can engage with Safety IQ resources to improve pharmacy practices. Visit our new Safety IQ webpages to find out more about how you can enhance patient safety.

The College is committed to keeping the entire membership updated about Safety IQ developments, so be sure to keep an eye on upcoming Newsletters and Friday Fives.
